

MAKING A BEQUEST TO GUIDE DOGS QUEENSLAND

It is easy to include Guide Dogs Queensland in your Will and while Guide Dogs Queensland is not providing you with any legal advice, the following provisions could be considered by your legal advisor when making a Will:

If you wish to make a residuary gift:

“I give and bequeath unto Guide Dogs for the Blind Association of Queensland my whole estate free of all duties and I declare that the receipt of the Chief Executive Officer of the said Association shall be a complete discharge to my Executors and Trustees for the moneys paid in accordance with this bequest.”

If you wish to donate a percentage of your estate:

“I give a – % of my Estate to Guide Dogs for the Blind Association of Queensland free of all duties and I declare that the receipt of the Chief Executive Officer of the said Association shall be a complete discharge to my Executors and Trustees for the moneys paid in accordance with this bequest.”

If you wish to donate a specific sum:

“I give the sum of $ to Guide Dogs for the Blind Association of Queensland free of all duties and I declare that the receipt of the Chief Executive Officer of the said Association shall be a complete discharge to my Executors and Trustees for the moneys paid in accordance with this bequest.”

Our free Will service:

Whether you choose to make a new Will or want to alter an existing one, Guide Dogs Queensland can offer assistance through our Free Will Service should you wish to gift a bequest to our organisation. It only takes a few words in a Will to make the world of difference to our work at Guide Dogs Queensland. After referral, Guide Dogs Queensland will advise of a Solicitor in a convenient location who will assist you in the preparation of your Will. If your Will has detailed provisions, is complex, or requires estate planning considerations, the referred Solicitor will be entitled to charge you for those additional costs.
